

The Charles R. Greene shoemaker's ledger

By Douglas H. Shepard, 2011

In 2009, Colin Kourelis was renovating a house at 154 Middle Road in Dunkirk. A false wall was taken down and behind it was found a small (3<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 6<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" ) memorandum book with lined pages. The covers are gone and many of the empty back pages have been chewed into by some nest-building creature. A few of the pages have pencil or crayon scribbling, so the supposition is that the little book was lying around in the attic, used briefly by a small child and then dropped into the space behind the false wall on the floor below.

An inside flyleaf has a penciled inscription that can just be made out:

C. R. Greene
Boots & Shoes
No. 71 Main St.
Fredonia
N.Y.

Number 71 Main Street today would be 7 East Main Street, a store in what was called the American Block. In the 1870s (the small booklet has entries from August 1872 through April 1873), the business at 71 Main Street was Frazine, Greene & Co., boots, shoes & rubber goods. The proprietors were George N. Frazine, Charles R. Greene and Leverett B. Greene.

Charles (the C. R. Greene of the memorandum book) used the booklet to make a kind of shorthand record of orders he received, whether or not they were completed, and what was the charge for the work. The penciled entries later had two parallel ink strokes marked through them, probably indicating that his records had been entered into the store's ledger of all accounts, and, no doubt, more neatly written out for a permanent record.

Charles R. Greene was born on 8 November 1848 to Roselle and Eliza (Barker) Greene. Roselle Greene had come to Fredonia in 1832 to apprentice with Leverett Barker, Fredonia's very successful tanner, who had married Desire, the daughter of Hezekiah and Sarah Barker (no relation) and built the first brick house in the village in 1821, today's Barker Historical Museum. Roselle Greene became a partner of Leverett Barker's, marrying his daughter Eliza in November 1837. The family also had tanneries, mills, and homes in Versailles NY.

When Leverett Barker died in May 1848, Roselle Greene became the head of the household, with Eliza responsible for Emeline Barker, 17; Julia Barker, 14; and their own children, Leverett B. Greene, 8; Mary B. Greene, 6; and Kate Greene, 3. Charles followed in November 1848. Roselle Greene died in 1859, leaving Leverett Barker Greene to take over his father's role. Charles attended the local school and was able to have five terms at the Fredonia Academy from 1865 through 1867. He must then have apprenticed as a shoemaker, so that he was able to become a partner in the Frazine, Greene & Co. shoe store in April 1872. (G. N. Frazine was probably the money behind the business rather than an active partner, since he had long been a successful hardware merchant, established a coal yard and was involved with several other ventures over the years.) Once established in the store, Charles Greene married Alice, the daughter of Franklin and Ann Burritt, in October 1872.

Unfortunately, Charles became ill. His ledger entries end on 11 April 1873 and he died on 9 November 1874 of “congestion of the brain,” age 26. His young widow, Alice B. Greene, moved back in with her parents, the Franklin Burritts, until 1 May 1879, when she was married to Frank Conn of Dunkirk, manager of the Western Union Telegraph Office there. They lived on Fifth Street at the corner of Eagle Street, about at 19 West 5th Street, moving to Brooklyn NY by 1887. Because the house where the ledger was found, 154 Middle Road, was not built until the later 1920s, Charles Greene’s ledger must have been preserved, perhaps by accident, elsewhere. It may have come to Dunkirk with Alice Greene when she married Frank Conn and was left, then, at their 5th Street home. There is no way of knowing how it migrated to the Middle Road attic and behind the false wall.

The original small ledger has been donated to the Barker Historical Museum through the generosity of Colin and Susan Kourelis, along with a scanned version. That will allow researchers to examine the entries without having to handle the fragile original. The ledger and the scan are accompanied by a printed transcription of the ledger’s text along with an index to the names which would be of particular interest to genealogists and local historians.
