11	Very Selective on the Enforcement	12/22/2020 4:36 PM
12	I know of several situations in the recent past in which Sheriffs Officers took part in unethical practices and in some cases violated legal statutes without being held accountable. Unfortunately, the brotherhood of the thin blue line requires officers to cover for and even lie to protect one another. For example, an officer was stalking their estranged spouse after an abusive relationship and harassing the spouses friends with threats of planting evidence to bring false charges. This was brought to the attention of the officer's superior with evidence, yet the officer remained employed for several more years.	12/22/2020 3:50 PM
13	Haven't had to deal with this.	12/22/2020 12:58 PM

I'm not saying that happens in our police force, I'm not privy to that information and I don't believe the public should be privy to anyone's personal files. I'm just saying this happens in many workforce establishments.	12/28/2020 12:46 AM

1	I think that repeat offenders might be watched more closely, but I also feel that could be necessary.	12/29/2020 8:05 AM
2	Even more ridiculous notion	12/28/2020 10:40 PM
3	I believe everyone has a natural bias that we have to work to move past, yet sometimes bias is created by experience and to ignore it could be dangerous.	12/28/2020 7:41 PM
4	I have seen them play ball with the boys in the park.	12/28/2020 3:37 PM
5	Have not seen interactions	12/28/2020 12:55 PM
6	Who can blame them. When groups act the way they do.	12/28/2020 9:24 AM
7	I think there are times when someone can be bias when dealing with the same individuals time and time again. I also believe the governor has set law enforcement up for failure in this area with the bail reform policy he has put in place. Criminals are not being held accountable like they should be.	12/28/2020 12:46 AM
8	No	12/26/2020 2:15 PM
9	Not that I know of.	12/26/2020 1:13 PM
10	We had a harassment call against our neighbor, but were told they didn't want to go next door because they knew they would get yelled at.	12/26/2020 11:41 AM
11	I believe most, if not all police go into situations with an open, unbiased mind. I believe the direction of most police encounters depends on the person treats the officer. Calm= Calm, Respect=Respect. Unfortunately, it's not always like that and police have to deal with uncooperative, agitated, disrespectful, etc. people. It amazes me that there aren't more problems.	12/26/2020 9:36 AM
12	Yes I was a witness to blatant racial profiling	12/23/2020 8:31 AM
13	I'm hoping this is untrue	12/22/2020 3:56 PM
14	I would hope they see all those they serve equally	12/22/2020 1:04 PM

1	I actually deal with Jamestown, Lakewood, and the Sheriff's office. All are top notch, and there is need for ongoing dialogue and training. pastormike60@hotmail.com	1/13/2021 6:48 PM
2	Sheriffs need a better education to cover the community's needs	1/1/2021 11:10 PM
3	Police don't need retrained, people do	12/29/2020 10:17 AM
4	I once needed the police and the sheriff's were the only ones that would come.	12/29/2020 8:05 AM
5	I believe that the CCSO is the best trained and most professional police organization in the county. To have the county legislature understand that SRO'S are a pipeline to the community and for the legislature to provide each school with a SRO would aid in community relationships.	12/28/2020 11:57 PM
6	If anything, more cooperation and SUPPORT from the leaders in the community would help a lot. It seems the most vocal opponents of our wonderful police tend to either be (or closely associate with) a criminal element. Nobody has the courage anymore to actually say they support law and order. Good people (ALL good people of all race/gender group) want to feel safe. It is an incontrovertible FACT that more police equals more safety.	12/28/2020 10:40 PM
7	My big hope is that our officers are given ways to cope with the stress and trauma they experience from seeing people often in their worst moments.	12/28/2020 7:41 PM
8	I would like to see a local police department instead of county	12/28/2020 12:55 PM
9	Stop aggressively arresting people for victimless crimes	12/28/2020 10:52 AM
10	As for me and my house we support the "blue". This whole thing is pure political craziness. A spitting into the wind of uselessness. The police don't need to be fixed. Society does!	12/28/2020 9:09 AM

21	All in all the chautauqua county sheriff's department is a decent police agency. My only complaint is response time. We had to call 911 at 2:30 in the morning this past sure for a drink or high on something guy that was pounding on our door and it literally took 22 mins for the state police to show up then a sheriff about 5 mins after the state police. A lot can happen in 22 mins.	12/22/2020 1:29 PM
22	I respect them and admire them for being in the helping profession	12/22/2020 1:04 PM
23	I feel they are doing a great job but need more support from the public as well as funding.	12/22/2020 12:58 PM
